TOP COVID-19 SCAMS

Top scams during the COVID-19 pandemic to be on the lookout for:

1. STIMULUS SCAMS
   Be alert of scammers asking for an upfront payment, bank account or social security information in order to receive your stimulus check. The government will never request this information for stimulus checks in a phone call or email.

2. CDC & WHO SCAMS
   Watch out for phishing emails from scammers posing as national and global health authorities, including the World Health Organization (WHO) and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). They hope to trick you into downloading malware or providing personal information.

3. CHARITY SCAMS
   Stay alert of contacting your fake charity organization or sponsor to obtain information.

4. PRODUCT OR SERVICES SCAMS
   Items like hand sanitizers, disinfectants and household cleaning supplies are often offered by scammers who will keep your money. Scammers also offer cures, coronavirus test kits and vaccines that do not exist. Services can range from house cleaning to doctor visits.

5. EMPLOYMENT SCAMS
   Scammers create job ads to lure unemployed consumers to fake jobs. The scammers will wire money or send a fake check to you, asking to send a portion back or use the funds to purchase goods, which are directed back to the scammer.
CHARITY CAMS

Scammers may try to trick you into donating to fake organizations. Research the charity you want to support before you donate to ensure your gift is protected.
Steps you can take to protect yourself from scams

1. Secure Your Accounts:
   Use multifactor authentication everywhere, especially with banks, phone and email providers. This extra layer of security helps keep you safe.

2. Stay Vigilant:
   Scammers will contact you by phone, email or text offering products, services or humanitarian opportunities. They often pose as credible companies “phishing” for login or personal information. Pause to confirm it’s a credible company before proceeding.

3. Monitor Your Accounts:
